Forecast for Saturday 14 Nov 2020

Weather: Cloudy and windy conditions expected through the day with rain at times, rain turning heavier for a time during the first part of the afternoon. A brief window of drier and clearer weather possible from mid-afternoon for a time, but further low cloud with some rain returning by evening.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 700m: Little chance of any prolonged breaks during most of daylight hours, low cloud may break for a while around the middle of the day but unlikely to last too long. Cloud down to 400 to 600 metres, southeastern facing upslopes most prone to low cloud.

Visibility: Occasionally poor in rain.
